REVIEW

Serving the County of Mountain View

Hospital collaboration continues

by Janice Harrington

A transition committee has been established by three area hospitals to further investigate shared services.

The Mountain View Health Care Centre and the Olds and Sundre General Hospitals set up the committee after participating in a retreat to discuss the possibility of sharing services last month.

Mountain View Health Care Centre Administrator Dennis Stabber said the purpose of the follow-up committee will be to investigate the feasibility of joining the three hospitals under one board as well as to further determine health care needs in the county.

The creation of the committee follows the release of a report, commissioned by the tri-hospital committee, which studied area demographics and strategic needs.

"The purpose of the committee is to look at reconfiguring and reallocating services between the three, to see where we can possibly save costs," Stabber said. "The report gave us a lot of data to work with."

The emphasis towards saving costs and sharing services stems from the recent dramatic decrease in hospital funding handed down by the provincial government. All three hospitals had experienced cutbacks in the last few years, but with further budget cuts expected, the hospitals hope collaboration will help to ensure the county can retain the same level of the past.

Along with the possibility of shared services, Stabber said the Mountain View Health Care Centre is looking at changing the focus of health care services offered at the Didsbury hospital.

"We will probably not be in the same form as we are right now in three years," he said. "We are looking at perhaps becoming a total health care centre; looking at wellness as opposed to looking after the patients after they have been sick."

Stabber said the wellness direction the hospital plans to look at comes from the Rainbow Report released 3 years ago.

"There are a lot of ideas in that report that we would like to implement," he said. "Perhaps a completely smoke free environment, maybe more programs on diet, a lunch program for school kids. In order to handle increasing health problems, you have to start at the root

Accident claims one

by Janice Harrington

A Calgary man was killed and three passengers were injured when a car overturned near Carstairs last week.

Didsbury RCMP said Kevin Clare, 29-years-old, was killed when his car overturned in a ditch near the intersection of Highways 2A and 580 last Wednesday. His passengers, Rebecca Sylvestre, 16, and Kerry Maxson, 14, of Calgary were taken to a Calgary hospital for treatment. The third passenger, Brenda Phillips, age 13, of Cremona, was treated at the Mountain View Health Care Centre in Didsbury.

None of the injuries were considered life threatening.

RCMP said the accident occurred when Clare's Plymouth Horizon failed to negotiate the intersection on the Cremona road. The accident occurs just after 7 pm.

No further investigation into the accident is planned.

Coming home last night we turned into our lane just as an enormous Blue Heron rose up from the dugout. The heron flew abreast of the car all the way to the yard and gave us a great opportunity to watch his very impressive flight. An adult Great Blue Heron is 40 - 46 inches long with a six foot wingspan. The wings are quite flexible so the wingbeat is undulating, slow and stately. Their long legs extend well beyond the tail, the neck curls into the shoulders so that it looks like they have a goitre condition and the long, strong, yellowish beak leads the way. I especially like Blue Herons because my brother Howie and I once owned one. The joy of ownership was somewhat diminished by the condition of the bird and it was not much of a pet. It was dead when we acquired it.

Howie and I were probably 7 and 9 years-old and had ridden our horse Pal down along the river. One of us spotted the crumpled heap of blue-gray feathers and got off to investigate. We had never seen a Blue Heron before but we had studied dinosaurs and felt sure that we had discovered the last of the flying reptiles. I'm not sure that I knew the term Archaeopteryx but Howie may have, he was a sharp little pain in the neck who carried a small dictionary in his pocket. Pal wanted no part of our discovery and reared and snorted when we draped the dead bird over his shoulders but we persevered and before long we were back on the road and looking for someone with whom to share our scientific artifact. We were by this time not only excited by our find but flushed from wrestling with the horse. The first house that we came to was that of an elderly Austrian couple, Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Mazak.

"Mr. and Mrs. Mazak are old," Howie said, "and this thing is pretty scary. If we just walk up to them and say, 'hey look at this they could have heart attacks. You better go in first and prepare them for a shock.'" I left Howie, Pal and the long, floppy, dead heron at Mazak's gate while I walked into the yard. Mrs. Mazak happened to be just coming out of her neat green and white outhouse so I ran to catch her before she got back to her equally neat green and white cottage. "Mrs. Mazak," I yelled breathlessly, "I don't want you to get upset, so prepare yourself for a shock. Howie and I were out riding and we found something really awful and dead down by the river. Now don't be scared but please come and see what we found."

Mrs. Mazak clutched her right hand over her left breast and reeled back to lean against the outhouse door. "Mein Gott," she wailed, "it is Oscar." She put her hands over her face and began to weep. For a few dreadful moments I thought she really would have a heart attack and I was darn disappointed that she was going to expire before she had even seen the bird. "No, no," I reassured her, "it's not Mr. Mazak, it's a prehistoric bird and we want you to look at it." She waved me away and walked unsteadily into her house. I assumed from this that she was not interested in science, so I went back to the road and climbed on the horse behind Howie and the heron.

Dad identified the bird as either a crane or a heron and we pinned it down with our trusty encyclopedia. Most of the neighborhood looked at it before we gave it a decent burial. Nobody gave us as good a reaction as Mrs. Mazak had, and she never did see it.

Fun to fly on Canada Day

by Janice Harrington

A day full of activities is planned for celebrating Canada's 126th birthday in Didsbury including the 2nd Annual Fun Fly.

Set to start at noon on Canada Day, the R/C Fun Flyers will open up their flying fields for model aircraft enthusiasts and spectators. Several club members will be on hand throughout the day, which goes from noon to 4 pm, to display airplanes and talk about their hobby.

As well as the flying fun, a number of earth bound events are also planned according to Canada Day events organizer Tracy Kasprick.

Food, fun, games and entertainment will be all over the downtown area beginning at 5 pm.

"The Aqua Jets are putting on a Canada Day bazaar from 5 to 9 pm," Kasprick said. "They're going to have supper; beef on a bun, corn, candy floss, watermelon, that kind of stuff. They're also going to have games like nail pounding, pie eating contests, apple bobbing, a dunk tank and the ever-popular chicken bingo."

Kids will be able to enjoy events just for them in the downtown area as well. Kasprick said the town plans to close down the main street to make room for games, entertainment and fun planned by the Summer Fun program.

Starting at 6 pm, a program will start to officially celebrate Canada Day which will include an RCMP and Legion Color Guard and a bevy of local entertainers.

"We've got people like the 5-0 Singers and Sonny Sherman," said Kasprick. "We've got Don Jackson from Don's School of Dancing, Brenda Clipperly, Lynn Leonard and Darcy Whiteside."

Kasprick said the stage show, which will be held at Eldon Foote Hall, will be managed by local theatre whizzes Derek Lewis and Tony Sylvestre.

Finishing off the day full of events will be a fireworks display starting at 11 pm. The display will be held in the Westglen School yard.

Costs for the celebrations are being shared by a number of local groups according to Didsbury Economic Development Officer Gary Trippel. The Aqua-Jets are using the bazaar as a fundraiser, the town is donating their time and some materials for the Summer Fun kid's program and the Didsbury Chamber of Commerce donated $500 towards overall costs.

The town of Didsbury is also the sponsor for the fireworks display.

Canada Day is this Thursday, July 1.

Auction attendance disappointing

by Janice Harrington

Organizers of Didsbury's first ever Street Auction are calling the event a success but are disappointed with the turnout.

Bryan Moffit, whose Didsbury Auction Service held the Street Auction, said he felt the event was a success but had hoped more local residents would have turned up.

"I guess as far as retail sales go, it was a success," he said. "But I'm a little disappointed with the turnout considering the advertising we did."

Moffit said only 90 bidders registered for the sale, held Saturday morning. Of those 90 though, Moffit said many came and went as the auction action wandered along the street to the various stores involved in the promotion.

The Street Auction was a Didsbury Chamber of Commerce sponsored event aimed at promoting local shopping. Moffit said the event was advertised on newspapers from Olds to Aldrie and on a local radio station.

"On Thursday night, at the auction we had here (Moffit's auction service), we had 250 people," he said. "We were hoping for at least that many. I thought it would even be more; thought there would be more who would just come out to watch."

Moffit said the Chamber and organizers will have to look at the results of the sales, figures for which the Chamber refused to release, before deciding when or if to hold another.

"Over all, for the first one, I'm pleased with it," Moffit said. "But I think maybe if we do it again we'll look at holding it earlier in the year or on a Friday night."

of those problems."

But implementation of these ideas are also dependent on funding, and Stabber said the hospital will have to see how their debt reducing plan works before they consider any new ideas.

"It may be that we won't have the dollars to do anything but less than what we do now."

Stabber said hospital does plan to keep the public informed about changes they are considering, and they hope to hold public meetings early in the fall to discuss the proposals expected from the tri-hospitals' transitional committee.

Early deadline

So that our employees can enjoy a long weekend to celebrate the Canada Day holiday, The Didsbury Review will be closed Friday, July 2. As a result, the deadline for ads and news is moved to Wednesday at 5 pm for this week only.

The Review will be open Thursday, July 1 for business as usual. After the long weekend, we will reopen at our usual time on Monday, July 5.

Tax tariffs trigger turmoil

by Elaine Wilson

Tax notices with adjusted levels reflecting new assessed property values were mailed out to County of Mountain View taxpayers on May 31. The response was immediate and vehement.

Opposition to the new system of assessment was voiced at a ratepayers meeting held in Sundre on June 21. The purpose of the meeting was to investigate viable alternatives to the system that would be equitable to all tax payers in the county.

The assessment formula took effect across the province as new general assessments were completed in all counties and districts. A complete general assessment was done in the County of Mountain View in 1992. While taxes went down for some, many were hit with a substantial increase.

The new system of assessment impacted most heavily on small land owners. The new assessment regulations state that where there is a residence, the first three acres are now assessed at 65 percent of the market value, with the remainder of the land assessed at agricultural value. Exemptions or reductions on homes are based on the amount of "qualifying agricultural valued land assessment in the owner's unit" up to a maximum exemption of $40,000, according to a pamphlet on municipality assessment distributed by Alberta Municipal Affairs. Since those with small parcels of land have limited exemption shelters, many find the new assessments onerous.

Paul Gregg, past president of the Leduc Ratepayer's Association spoke to over two hundred county residents, fielding questions and offering guidance, at the June 21 meeting.

"I'm sympathetic," Gregg said. "But don't look around for someone to blame. We let it happen. We have to convince the MLAs that it's an unfair tax system. It's a long term thing. Changes won't happen overnight, but things can change if you work together. Remember your tax assessor is not the enemy. In fact he can help you to understand the process. Your local councillors can do something about it by lobbying the government."

Organizers reminded those present that the county council in office when the assessment change was proposed unanimously voted against it, "but they were obviously in the minority".

A proposal to reactivate a local rate payers association was agreed upon. Organizers urged everyone to keep the interests of the county as a whole in mind.

"Please don't just grind your own private axe," chairperson Orest Curmiski requested, adding that making angry comparisons of tax rates between neighbors or different county segments was counter-productive. "Let's work together, we're all part of the county. Try to be very positive so we can find a way to resolve the problems regarding the assessments in the County of Mountain View."

"Are you angry?" Gregg asked, generating a loud response. "I'm

Questioning taxes

County ratepayers turned out in droves to talk about the increase in county taxes for 1993. Many are angry with the increase, specifically with the change in assessments.

glad you're angry. If used properly [anger is] a very useful tool but if not used properly it can hurt a lot of people."

A temporary executive was appointed to explore reasonable alternatives to the present assessment system. Further meetings to be held in other county centres were tentatively scheduled for October.

Mobile licences are due on June 30 and taxes are payable upon receipt, but no interest will be levied until November.

Ode to a fox

At this rate, the County of Mountain View is going to get a very bad reputation from animal rights activists.

Just in the past few months we have had two complaints lodged with the SPCA over abuse of livestock and those are just the ones we hear about. Wildlife is not being treated much better. Take for example this baby fox, whose den with many brothers and sisters was near Carstairs. That den is somewhat less cozy these days since many of those brothers and sisters were shot and left to rot, missing only their lovely, bushy tails.

It is strange that an agriculturally intensive and wildlife-choked area such as ours seems to be butting heads to hard with Mother Nature. Here we are, relying on nature to put the bread on the table; by attracting tourist and urban weary home owners, by growing bounteous crops, and yet many seem to be attempting to buck the trend.

Livestock animals are the life blood of ranchers in this area. From a very cold, logical view point, it make little sense why a rancher would want to mess with what makes money, especially when there are always willing buyers. We have no depression like there was in the thirties, there is plenty of feed available.

As for wildlife, on a large scale, each animal that wanders our fields and forests at night make up an integral part of the food chain. Killing off carnivores like foxes and coyotes upsets the balance, allowing pasture and fields to become overrun by mice and gophers. Excusing anyone from killing an animal because it has been listed as a nuisance only covers up a disregard for the rest of life God created on this earth. With that kind of mentality, deer, elk, hawks, owls, anything can be listed as a nuisance. Excusing the same killing as a manner of species control borders on insanity. Fish and Wildlife officers make a living out of knowing what animals need to be culled and what need to be allowed to flourish to ensure a viable eco-system. That information or that concern for the entire picture is not usually a consideration for someone who kills a fox and steals its tail, or chased coyotes around a farmer's field with a truck.

This is one of the most beautiful, environmentally rich areas in the province, and many have made good lives by living here. Even oil companies are beginning to realize the need to balance their existence with the nature around them. Why are farmers trying to do the opposite? It certainly seems counter productive.

And besides, having an animal rights activist picketing the front step of the farm house probably wouldn't make for a very pleasant visit.

Quote of the week:

"I've got to do something, and not just one of those cute little prohibition orders. You've got to respect the other members of the public." Provincial Court Judge A. Demong just before handing down a sentence to Red Bull Pub owner Phil Racine on an assault charge.

A voice against censorship

Dear Editor:

Before I wrote this editorial I asked the manager of the Video View what type of X-rated movies they offered for rent. I was relieved to be shown Video View's policy for X-rated material. Video View does not stock material containing incest, violence, beastiality, or sexual violence (rape). This policy coupled with the age restrictions assures me Video View is acting in a responsible manner.

As for the connection between the viewing of pornography and sexual deviation, I will honestly say I do not know how much pornography contributes to the sexual abuse of women and children. I do know that if someone craves violent material to feed a sick mind they will get it. They will go anywhere it is available. I feel that the type of X-rated material available at Video View, although hardly intellectually stimulating, is not violent or excessively crude. Also, we must ask ourselves if we really want censorship in our community. If you think there is no danger in censorship I would encourage you to read the history on the rise of Hitler and the Nazi Party. Censorship of books, newspapers, magazines, and music was common policy. Sadly this censorship grew to include people too. Censorship can be very dangerous when misused. If Video View is pressured to bow to the demands of censorship who will be next? Will the Library be told what to put on its shelves? Will the drug stores be forced to remove certain magazines?

Because I do not advocate censorship does not mean I am without compassion for victims of sexual abuse. I feel strongly that our judicial system fails to protect victims of violence and sexual abuse. If you require proof of this, read the papers. It is common to see a sentence of 18 months, for the rape of a child. Also, to conclude this editorial, please do not presume because an individual does not support censorship, they have never been victims.

Yours sincerely,
Susan L. Pratt,
Didsbury

Appreciation for SPCA

Dear Editor:

In regard to the article "Berreth guilty of lesser charge" I would like to say that I appreciate the efforts of the S.P.C.A. officer who seized Dwayne Berreth's cattle found suffering from starvation.

You showed compassion for neglected animals and enough backbone to stand up to someone who neglected them.

As a citizen of the Didsbury area I'm glad to see that things like this don't go unnoticed.

Sincerely yours,
Trudie Robertson,

Doctor response to cutbacks

Dear Editor:

I have been disturbed by recent proposals from several provinces to control physician resources by locking a generation of young doctors out of medical practice.

By no means are such actions restricted to any one province. They extend beyond provincial borders to encompass a broad agenda for health system reform that incorporates three themes: a shift toward the wellness movement; downsizing of the health care system; and physician resource management.

The shift towards wellness advocates a greater emphasis on illness prevention and health promotion, and increased use of other health professionals, particularly in primary care settings such as community health centres.

Downsizing is driven largely by economics and includes initiatives intended to do more with the same amount of resources or less. To date, these measures have included limiting access to technologies, bed and facility closures, the creation of regional "super-boards" and de-insuring selected procedures.

The philosophy is that increased funding does not necessarily result in better health. The challenge is clearly one of improved management, which the Canadian Medical Association has been addressing through its quality of care project.

Recent knee-jerk responses in physician resource management are driven by affordability. Any such measures run contrary to what we believe are shared principles between governments and the profession in two main areas:

that any changes in policy regarding entry to practice should occur at the beginning of the medical career training cycle rather than once a person is about to graduate; and that it is essential for governments and the medical profession to work co-operatively in designing policies that are sensitive to the needs of the population.

There is a willingness within the profession to identify and discuss a wide range of options and alternatives in physician resource planning. This will only be effective if we work with governments through the joint planning mechanisms that are in place to translate these options into actions.

I strongly urge governments to think of the future of our health care system - a system of which we are so proud and that has served us well - before taking any precipitous actions that might very well lead to its disintegration.

Yours sincerely,

In praise of Liberal candidate

Dear Editor:

Our Gole was for change... Donna Gole is a courageous person. She made the decision to enter politics at a time when voter cynicism was rampant. Two years ago, I distinctly remember the common reaction Donna received after her decision to run for MLA was made public. "Donna, you're too honest to get involved in politics!", they said. Fortunately, Donna was not easily deterred. She believed that Albertans were ready for a new kind of politics:

the sort of politics that would collaborate and cooperate with Albertans; the sort of politics that would give priority to human need rather than human greed; and the sort of politics that would ensure fairness and equal opportunity to all.

Donna didn't win the election. However, she did have a profound effect on thousands of local citizens. For the first time in far too many years, the voters in Olds-Didsbury Constituency were provided with genuine choice. People became directly involved. (most for the first time), in the political process. Many others engaged in vigorous debate about the future of our province with their neighbors, family, and friends.

When Donna decided to run for office she did so because she wanted to make a difference. I thank her, and I congratulate her on her consequential achievement.

Chucks cause animal suffering

Dear Editor:

The recent chuckwagon accidents at Trout Springs race-track highlight once again the dangerous nature of the event. Not every accident causes broken legs or necessitates destruction of horses. The horses involved still suffer such physical and psychological trauma as cuts, bruising, pulled muscles, and fear.

As another season begins, the Alberta S.P.C.A. calls on chuckwagon racing spectators to think a little deeper about what they're watching. It's dangerous for everyone - people and horses. The people choose to participate; the horses don't. Does entertainment justify animal suffering?

I can't believe that people who attend chuckwagon races want to see horses suffer injury or death for the sake of entertainment or financial gain.

While chuckwagon racing continues, the Alberta S.P.C.A. urges that:

1. An independent veterinarian be present at all meets and inspect all horses prior to the race to ensure they are fit to run.

2. All chuckwagon associations conduct effective and random drug and alcohol testing of drivers and drug testing of horses at all meets.

3. The figure eight start and unlanced entry onto the track be eliminated.

4. Chuckwagon associations strictly enforce their own rules.

Joy Ripley,
President
ASPCA

Greetings from far away readers

Dear Editor:

Just a quick note to let you know that The Didsbury Review is being read "around the world."

I have been working in the capital city of Bangladesh (Dhaka) for nearly 6 months now, as part of a two year contract with Agriteam Canada Consulting Ltd., Calgary. All my mail is forwarded by Agriteam (including The Review) once a month by direct courier to our Dhaka office. I really look forward to receiving it because it keeps me in touch with what is happening in and around Olds and Didsbury.

When I finish reading The Review (usually 4 in each courier pouch) I pack them up and they're off in another courier bound for R.R. #1, Mount Hope, Ontario, Canada, where my parents Don and Evelyn Peer faithfully read them to keep up on news "in the west". (They consider Olds their second home away from the Ontario family dairy farm).

I will especially be looking forward to any news you print about the activities of my acquaintances at Mount View Handicapped Riding Association and Olds College.

The Didsbury Review does travel and is read world wide.

A Linden area farmer was handed a minor fine after he was convicted on a charge of harassing wildlife.

Harvey Kimmel was found guilty of the charge last week in provincial court. The charge had been laid against him when a witness phoned the provincial Fish and Wildlife department to report the harassment.

The witness said he watched as Kimmel drove his truck into a field and chase after some coyotes. The witness said Kimmel's dogs were also released during the incident to chase after the animals.

Kimmel had said he was helping inoculate pigs at the time the incident was said to have occurred, but Provincial Court Judge A. Demong found him guilty anyway, saying the witness may have been wrong on the time or date of the offense.

The maximum fine Kimmel could have faced was $5000.

A Carstairs man was fined $800 in total after pleading guilty to dangerous driving and failing to stop at the scene of an accident.

Kevin Liesemer was charged with the offense after a complaint was made about a car racing along the main street in Carstairs last month. The car lost control and hit two parked cars before racing away.

After pleading guilty, Liesemer said he left the scene because he suffered an anxiety attack. He later turned himself into police.

Besides the fines, Liesemer was also prohibited from driving for a year.

A man who threatened to kill himself and was found with a loaded .22 was fined $100 in Didsbury Provincial Court last week.

Gary Fike was fined after pleading guilty to careless use of a firearm, a charge that was laid after RCMP found him with the live rifle. His family had called the RCMP when Fike threatened to commit suicide.

Fike was fined $100 and prohibited from possessing a firearm for 2 years.

Carstairs bar owner Phil Racine was in court again last week facing another assault charge.

Racine, the former vice principal of the Hugh Sutherland School and owner of the Red Bull Pub, plead guilty to assaulting Donna McDougall, co-owner in the bar and Racine's girlfriend.

This was Racine's second conviction for assault in a year. He was fined $400.

FBDB searches for young entrepreneurs

For the sixth consecutive year, the Federal Business Development Bank (FBDB) is seeking candidates for its annual Young Entrepreneur Awards.

Established in 1988, the awards recognize the achievements of entrepreneurs 29 years of age or younger. A total of 12 awards are presented - one for each province and territory. The awards ceremony takes place in a major Canadian city during the national launch of Small Business Week in October.

All applicants are judged on the same criteria:

- Operating success - Including sales, profitability, growth prospects, employment creation and acceptance in the marketplace;

- Innovation - In the company's product, service, production process, marketing strategy, or other aspect of business;

- Community involvement - the participation of the entrepreneur in charitable work, service clubs and raising the awareness of entrepreneurship. Consideration will also be given to the entrepreneur's age at start-up, unique problems or challenges the company faced and overcame and the longevity of the business.

All applications are reviewed by a provincial selection committee including local business people, representatives from business development organizations, chambers of commerce, boards of trade, professional firms and chartered banks. The application deadline is August 16, 1993.

Applications are available at any branch of the Federal Business Development Bank or by calling toll-free 1-800-361-2126.

The Federal Business Development Bank is a Crown corporation that promotes the creation and development of businesses in Canada. It pays particular attention to small and medium-sized businesses. The Bank provides term loans and guarantees, venture loans, venture capital and a broad range of management training, counselling and planning services.

East Didsbury 4-H news

June 4, 5, and 6, our Beef and Light Horse Club attended 4-H On Parade. We had 7 horse members and 2 beef members attend with projects. On Thursday night we went down to Calgary to set up our stalls and decorate.

We had a very successful weekend. Lindsay Beal won Jr. Reserve High point for her class and Michelle Boettcher won Senior Reserve high point for her class. Our club took part in the lip sync contest and we had a very good time. The Light Horse members took part in the Horse Bowl. We had a junior team and a senior team entered.

Jr. Team: Chrissy Jochems, Julie Nail, Lindsay Sakariassen and Charlie Sawatzky.

Sr. Team: Michelle Boettcher, Lisa Loewen, Elissa Sakariassen and Rene Shultz.

One of the highlights of the weekend was the stall judging. This entails decorating, cleaning and representation to the public by the club members. The theme this year was Pioneer Days with all of the 18 horse clubs competing. As we were one of the smaller clubs, it was an honor to win the "Stall Award".

The club could not have done as well without the help of Tracy Kasprick and Marion McAdam.

Both were instrumental in instructing club members. Many people were also helpful, taking time to help with decorations and other details.

4-H On Parade results:
East Didsbury Light Horse Junior Novice Classes A, C, D, & G

Jr. English Equitation - Lindsay Beal (C), 5th.

Jr. English Pleasure - Lindsay Beal (C), 3rd; Lindsay Sakariassen (A), 6th.

Jr. Western Pleasure - Lindsay Beal (G), 3rd; Chrissy Jochems (D), 1st; Lindsay Sakariassen (C), 6th.

Jr. Showmanship - Lindsay Beal (G), 2nd; Lindsay Sakariassen (C), 5th.

Senior Novice Classes A & C
Sr. English Equitation - Michelle Boettcher (A), 4th.

Sr. English Pleasure - Michelle Boettcher (A), 3rd.

Sr. Western Equitation - Michelle Boettcher (A), 2nd; Lisa Loewen (A), 5th; Rene Shultz (A), 6th.

Sr. Western Pleasure - Michelle Boettcher (A), 3rd; Elissa Sakariassen (C), 6th.

Western Jr. Horse - Lisa Loewen, 4th.

A winning Didsbury 4H team.

Sr. Showmanship - Michelle Boettcher (A), 1st; Lisa Loewen (A), 6th; Elissa Sakariassen (C), 5th; Rene Shultz (A), 3rd.

Jr. Reserve High Point - Lindsay Beal, Jr. Novice G.

Sr. Reserve High Point - Michelle Boettcher, Sr. Novice A.

The Beef Club A 3 Heifer Projects Down At 4-H On Parade. Jonathan Dowell had a 2-year-old heifer/calf project and a yearling heifer project. D.J. Anderson had a yearling heifer project also.

Jonathan Dowell - Yearling placed 5th in Semmental yearling class. 2 yr. old placed 5th in Semmental 2 yr. old with calf.

D.J. Anderson - Yearling Maine Anjou placed 7th in original class and D.J. won the showmanship in his class. He went on to showmanship in his class and never placed.

BUSINESS

Honest service key

by Janice Harrington

Ask Rick and Dick Wannamaker what has made their business so long lasting and they'll say honesty.

The current and former owner of Dick's Auto Service have put 41 years into their business and are proud to say they have many repeat customers, most of whom they know on a first name basis. It's the way they like to run things.

"We like to be up front and friendly with people," Rick, who took over the business 2 years ago, said. "It's very laid back. If we think somebody else should fix your car, like the imports who are usually better off with the dealerships than with a mechanic tinkering around in there who doesn't know much about it, we'll tell them."

Dick's Auto Service has been around since 1962 when Dick, a former employee of Ed Ford Motors, decided to start his own service station up. Rick, his son, has worked with him since 1978.

It was in 1978 that they formed a partnership, and then in 1991, when Dick decided it was time to retire, Rick took over the reins. Dick still puts in an 8 hour day.

"They won't learn how to do wheel alignments, so they won't let me go," Dick said.

Since taking over, Rick is hoping for business to pick up so he can seriously consider some expansion plans he has under his hat. Like most businesses, Dick's Auto Service has been buckled under by the recession but Rick is optimistic and is investigating some growth options.

"I would kind of like to see things go bigger, I'm even tossing around the idea of an RV repair centre, but I don't know if the town can support that. So I'm feeling things out."

One thing Rick would like to see expanded is the computer service work they recently started. Currently they service GM, Chrysler and newer Fords using a computer analyzing system.

"We've had pretty good success with that, but it all depends on the economy."

In the meantime, the Wannamakers plan to continue the same level of service and

Dick and Rick Wannamaker: open door policy attention they pride themselves on.

"We like to be very honest and up front," Rick said. "If the people want to come in to the back and watch us work on the cars, we don't stop them. People trust us more that way."

"Yes, that's true," added Dick. "And we get to learn a little more gossip too."

Department store finds success easy

Expansion has been the key to success for the family-operated Didsbury Department Store (formerly known as Didsbury Discount).

One of the store's owner/operators, Barry Williams, says moving the business into Victoria Square Mall was one of the best decisions they ever made. "The increase in foot traffic we get through here is just amazing. Altogether, between both stores (Didsbury Department Store and Didsbury Crafts and Sewing Notions) we've got 6,300 square feet."

That, according to Barry is about 100 square feet more than the operation took up in its previous location near the Our Rose Lounge. The result meant more room for the store to expand. "We... (owner/operators: Barry Williams, his wife Kathy and brother Terry)...are still set on pursuing the idea of becoming a Stedman's Store, but to do that we have to meet certain criteria in our inventory. We are very close to achieving that kind of status now; especially with the added selection we have going now."

The Williams' application to join the Stedmans chain was only narrowly rejected on a few minor formalities. "The next time we apply, I'm sure we'll get in," said Barry.

That brand of confidence has worked well for the Williams for the past two years they've been in business. And the news just gets better. This fall, Barry, Kathy and Terry plan on increasing their toy line. When they're done it should be among the most extensive in the area.

Prices, Barry feels, will remain competitive. "Because of the larger volume of stock we are now carrying, we have been able to reduce 50 percent of the prices."

Every bottle of Bacardi Amber rum still begins the way it did over 130 years ago.

Down where palm trees sway and sugar cane is still cut by hand, every drop of Bacardi amber rum has its beginnings. Just as it was in 1862, molasses made from pure sugar cane is first fermented and distilled. Then it is aged in oak barrels, and expertly blended to attain that smooth, full flavour that could only be Bacardi amber rum.

OLDS

Olds plans tourism scheme

by Elaine Wilson

Olds College and the Tourism Action Committee in Olds are developing a program called 'Experience Agriculture' geared toward attracting summer visitors to the area.

Committee member Karen Hoover said the Olds College draws over 25,000 people to the area every year. Her committee wants to encourage those visitors to not only check out campus facilities, but also all the other interesting spots located in and around Olds.

"We will continue to develop a plan at the college which draws the biggest group of tourists in this area," Hoover said. "We want to bring visitors in from other areas, so we are developing a six stop brochure featuring local attractions- Pa Su, Custom Woolen Mills, Olds College, the Visitor Information Centre, Johnson Ranches and Pearsons Berry Farm. We'll describe what's there, when each is open, and give a bit of background on [each attraction]."

Hoover said that each of the six featured attractions draws different groups of people. By grouping them together, people who might have planned to visit one place, might be drawn to others.

Brochures will be distributed through some Calgary outlets and by local businesses. The Olds Tourism Action Committee is planning to target seniors groups and work in conjunction with the David Thompson Country Tourism Council.

"Around forty percent of the people who visit the area are coming to see friends and relatives," Hoover said. "A lot of local people may not know about all of the special places that would be fun to take visitors to see. So we're developing a scavenger hunt involving about twelve or thirteen places. Over the summer, from July to September, people will be encouraged to go to these locations, pick a special item to prove they'd been there, and submit them at the end. The really neat thing is that all of the businesses who are participating are giving wonderful prizes. People like Pearson's Berry Farm and Rosebud Creek Herbs are giving away product. There's things like a sheepskin rug, a gift certificate for dinner at the Flames Restaurant, an overnight stay at a bed and breakfast- neat things people will want to win."

Besides developing the public relations campaign, Hoover said the committee is also working to attract volunteers to help promote the area. Volunteers are especially needed to deliver and hang posters. Those wishing to volunteer or learn more about the program are asked to contact District Home Economist Karen Hoover at 556-4220.

Mount View Lodge news

by Annie Caush

Hi all - After that nice rain on the weekend, I'm sure we're in for some real summer weather.

Last week was a very busy one here at the Lodge as we celebrated Senior's Week. This correspondent missed the first part of it but is hearing lots of good reports of the activities. It began on Sunday afternoon with an "Open House". Monday, we had some entertainment in the evening and on Tuesday we honored our "volunteers" and everyone made their own banana split. I hear it was a lot of fun. On Wednesday there was the Resident Appreciation Tea and each resident received a "citation" and a pin from the Town of Olds. Super nice! Thursday we had "Bingo", called by a U.C.W. group and we invited the manor residents to share the afternoon with us. Friday was "Family Day" and each resident invited 2 family members or friends to supper. We had a lovely meal. The hamburgers and hot dogs were made by our kitchen staff and our guests brought beautiful salads and desserts to make a really lovely meal. After supper we had entertainment provided by Jim Haug of Bergen with his guitar. Altogether it was a lovely week and we thank all who helped in any way.

Saturday was designated as "rest - relax - recuperate" which most were glad to follow but in the afternoon the Seventh Day Adventist Church came for their monthly Saturday afternoon sing-a-long service which was enjoyed by a good number of residents.

Our newest resident is Mr. Harry Palamar. We hope you soon feel "at home".

In hospital we have Mrs. Eva Warren and Mr. Doug Burns. Get well soon.

Koinonia graduation

Six students celebrated graduation from the Olds Koinonia Christian School earlier this month. They are: Tanya Watters, Jason Shantz, Shauntelle Nelson, Marsha Metcalfe, Corey Kope and Helen Haukenfrers. Shantz received the Student of the Year award and Kope was awarded the Governor General's Medal for Academic Excellence.

SUNDRE / WESTWARD HO

Museum joins Canada Day fun

by Janice Harrington

Sundre will celebrate Canada Day with a historical twist thanks to the inclusion of the Sundre Museum.

The Sundre Museum and Pioneer Village will help with the July 1 events this year by throwing a historical and ethnic fashion show at the museum's location.

"It's going to start at 2 pm," said museum manager Sheila MacGregor. "We'll have clothes from our own collection and traditional clothing from all sorts of different countries, including Ukraine and China."

As well, MacGregor said the museum will be serving dessert and coffee from 10 am to 4:30 pm.

The Chamber of Commerce will be sponsoring the rest of the Canada Day celebrations, starting with official opening ceremonies to be held at the museum starting at 10 am. Sundre's 2nd Annual Merchants' Chili Cook-off starts at 11 am with 3 categories: mild, medium and hot. Chili entered in the contest will be sold to the crowds by the bowl starting at noon.

At Greenwood Park, where most of the events will take place, Chamber organizer Maggie Lamb said a number of games and entertainment for children and adults will be offered. Les Bucherons, a traditional French-Canadian group from Edmonton will be performing throughout the day.

"These guys are back by popular demand from the Canada 125 celebrations," Lamb said. "They do jig dancing, sing-alongs, storytelling; a lot of participatory things that focus on French Canadian culture."

The Sundre Volunteer Fire Department will also be involved by putting on a bucket brigade.

"A lot of people get soaked with this one," Lamb said. "They rarely win."

And to really celebrate Canada's birthday, Lamb said birthday cake and ice cream will be served throughout the day.

CREMONA / WATER VALLEY

County pays recycling costs

by Janice Harrington

County Council has agreed to pay half of the costs for operating the recycling centre in Cremona and Water Valley.

The agreement to foot the bill came at county council's last meeting after a request for the funding from the Cremona Village Council.

In a letter to the county, Village manager Cleta Haggerty showed that the village had taken a $2340 loss on operations for the 1992 recycling program. Costs of the program, which totalled nearly $7000, were not covered by the total receipts for the recycled goods sold by the program.

Haggerty said the village council asked the county council to cover half the net loss because of the use of the recycling facilities by rural residents. Cremona tax payers will foot the other $1170.

Haggerty said Cremona is looking into ways to try and reduce costs in their recycling operations. Currently some costs are reduced by the use of village staff and vehicles which haul fine and glass to Calgary. Haggerty said further cut backs could be difficult because of the labor intensive work involved in the program.

Currently Cremona runs two recycling centres, one in Cremona and one in Water Valley. The recycling program has been running in the area for two years.

Crime of the week

On the morning of June 14, 1993 between 0330 and 0500, person(s) unknown broke into the Village Livestock and Feed Store in Cremona, Alberta. The culprits gained entry by prying the rear door of the premise. Once inside the thieves removed an undisclosed amount of cash, a quantity of new clothing and tools. Any persons having information about this offence are asked to call CrimeStoppers of the Didsbury RCMP at 335-3381.

CARSTAIRS

Pot luck planned for Canada Day

by Janice Harrington

Carstairs will really be celebrating their sense of community this Canada Day, with a pot luck supper planned for July 1.

Organizer Barry Williams said all Carstairs residents are invited to the pot luck dinner, which will be held at the new community hall starting at 5 pm. Everyone interested in coming should bring a pot luck dish as well as their own dishes and cutlery.

This is the second year the Carstairs Chamber of Commerce has sponsored the Canada Day festivities. Williams said they decided to repeat the fun after the success they had with Canada 125 celebrations.

"It was really that that made us decide to keep it as an annual event," he said. "Basically this year is similar to last year."

Along with the pot luck dinner, Williams said the Chamber is trying to organize a dance.

"We are trying to line up some entertainment for a dance," he said. "So if anyone has any records or cassettes they would like to play, or if they have a band, we want to hear from them."

To finish off the pot luck dinner, Williams said the party will feature a huge birthday cake for everyone to enjoy. Children will also get free hot dogs and pop.

The fun starts at 5 pm on July 1.

Polio precautions underway

Polio virus has been isolated in an unimmunized community in southern Alberta. To date, no people have contracted the disease or become ill as a result of this virus. Because of the generally high level of immunization throughout Alberta it is unlikely that the virus will circulate outside of this community.

The role of the health unit is to promote health and prevent disease and injury. Since immunization prevents the spread of disease, Mount View Health Unit staff are responding to these reports by reviewing records to identify any people or groups that are not immunized within the health unit service area. Appropriate follow up will be undertaken as warranted.

Polio is a viral infection that is spread by close association with an infected person. It is recommended that children be immunized at 2, 4 and 18 months of age with a booster when they start school. Adults should have received vaccine in childhood. If you or a family member have not been immunized, please see the Public Health Nurse in your local Mount View Health Unit office for more information. For further information please call Joyce Miller, Communicable Disease Control Nurse, 221-8000.

Locals attend Lutheran Women's convention

Approximately 5,000 participants travelled to Edmonton for the 25th biennial convention of the International Lutheran Women's Missionary League (LWML) June 17-20. "One In Spirit-One In Purpose" served as the theme for this gathering.

Local residents attending the convention were Lydia Maler and Robbie Lentz from Didsbury and Elsie Bonkowski from Carstairs. LWML is the women's auxiliary of The Lutheran Church-Missouri Synod and the Lutheran Church-Canada, and has over 200,000 members.

Highlighting the business activity of the convention was the delegates' approval of a $1,140,000 mission goal for 1993-95. The delegates also selected twelve world-wide mission projects to support with funds gathered through free-will offerings.

Mission projects selected include Circle of Life Lutheran Church, Cheyenne Reservation, Montana-$100,000, Lutheran School in Haiti-$26,000, English/Second Language coordinator, Russia-$100,000, Scholarships, Concordia College, Selma, Alabama-$72,000, "Friends In Christ" Lutheran Missions, Idaho-$40,000, "The Deaf Bible Study" Series-$45,000, Hong Kong, Support of Deaconess Carol Halter-$100,000, New Mission Work in Cote d'Ivoire-$110,000, Winnebago Youth Mission Project, Nebraska-$90,000, New Mission Field, Battery Park, Manhattan, New York-$105,000, Lutheran Day Care Church Planting Initiative-$100,000 and "Apple of His Eye" ministry, Los Angeles-$22,788.92.

Keynote speaker, Rev. Thomas Rogers, El Toro, CA, challenged today's LWML women to continue telling the story of Christ's forgiveness and love, and to live their lives in total commitment to God.

Daily "Spirit-Purpose" sessions featured Bible study, personal application and inspiration.

Worship highlights of the gathering included the Mission Service Ingathering which dedicated 3,900 "Kits for the Homeless" brought by convention attendees. The kits, containing personal hygiene items, were donated to the following Edmonton area shelters: Hope Mission, Win House, Youth Emergency Centre, George Spady Centre, Alberta Alcohol & Drug Abuse Centre, Salvation Army, Terra-Association for Assistance to Unwed Mothers, Women's Emergency Centre, Herb Jamison Centre for Men, McMan Youth Services Association and Boyle Street Community Services.

Immediately following the LWML convention, the founding convention of the Lutheran Women's Missionary League-Canada took place in Edmonton.

The 26th biennial convention of the LWML will be held in Kansas City, MO, in June 1995.

Bancroft W.I. news

by E. Page

Our June 14th meeting was hosted by Catherine McNaughtan with 8 members. Our song was "In the Good Old Summer Time", while the roll call was What I do to relax. Reading seemed to take the top vote.

We each paid 31 cents for A.C.W.S. as the special days this month are Farmer's Day and Father's Day.

Our community weiner roast is planned for Monday, Aug. 9th at the Midway Community Dam at 6 p.m. Bring your own weiners and buns etc. Coffee and juice will be provided. W.I. members are to bring squares and meet at 4:30. A donation was received from a happy camper, who had used the campground at Midway.

A paint bee was planned for June 22 at 9 a.m. at the Midway Dam.

Hospital visit this month will be done by Marge Fisher and Pat VanTetering.

Correspondence was an invitation to a pot luck lunch on July 4th for Bob and Marge Fisher's 56th wedding anniversary and their 82nd birthdays. Our congratulations to this great couple.

A birthday tea at the Nursing Home was planned for Wednesday, July 14 at 1:30.

Reports from the 3 delegates who attended the A.W.I. Convention in Olds said speakers were from Alberta First Call, the Physically Challenged Farmers, Fire Safety as well as Connie Osterman, Bev Leavitt, on "Are You Listening", Lynn Kemper on "Water a Precious Commodity" and Judy Shultz, food, wine & travel editor of the Edmonton Journal, all with good food for thought. This was election year, our new provincial president is Elizabeth Rushton, Pres. elect is Doris Northy and Vice Pres. is Hazel Swainson. 1997 will be the 100th anniversary of the Womens Institute. Our congratulations to one of our members: Pat VanTetering, on winning the award for the best in knitting with a beautiful baby afghan. Also to Helen Weber for 1st in district 5 and 2nd in the provincial. J.P. Coates for her hardanger and to Myra Underhay for the best in rugs.

A contest on berries was won by Elsie Brander.

Happy summer holidays one and all.

Mountain View W.I. news

Our June meeting started off with dinner out at the Dragon Palace with many of us enjoying Chinese food. We then went to Mrs. Phyllis Leeders in the Kinsmen Manor where we had our meeting.

Phyllis's song for the first day of summer was "Spring Time in The Rockies."

Roll call was answered with $4 for birthday money given to one of our two local halls. This year we support Rosebud.

The W.I. conference held in Olds was attended by Gwen Pratt and Fern Olson. We will all read the report brought back by the ladies who attended. This year the U.F.A. and W.I. both had their separate meetings but gathered for meals and entertainment. The Carstairs Kitchen Band supplied good entertainment for everyone.

We hope to have a speaker from Padnoma in October for our Grandmother's meeting at the College Green.

Our September meeting will be at Millie McNeil's.

Our tea draw was won by

From the desk of Summer Fun

by Laurie Snyder

The first week of Summer Fun begins July 5 to 9 featuring a "Flooray for Hollywood" theme. Events will include dramatic skits, a lip syncing contest and other small productions to be filmed. So you may be a star with Summer Fun. Join us for story telling and puppet shows in the park.

Crafts will include working with casting plaster to make unique imprints on the Summer Fun Boardwalk of Fame. Also participants can design their own t-shirts or hat. Special guests include Darcy Whiteside, a local musician, and Larry Thorten, magician and family entertainer, on Wednesday, July 7 at 11 a.m. and 1 p.m. Inaule for registration at the Recreation Office at 335-8377.

Millie McNeil and hostess draw by Elsie Phillips.

Have a great summer folks, we'll be back in September.

THERE'S NO ALTERNATIVE TO CONCRETE

Concrete is the basement building material with all the advantages.

It's a proven performer, Rugged Tough, Durable. A concrete basement will never burn or rot. And concrete is safe. Quality-controlled, concrete needs no toxic chemicals which may be hazardous to building occupants.

Concrete is an energy-wise choice. A concrete basement needs little heat or air-conditioning. And concrete walls are easily insulated.

Economically, concrete is a good investment. A concrete basement will add years of life to the foundation and considerable dollars to the resale value of your building.

Add up the advantages. There's simply no alternative to quality controlled concrete. The best basement building material.

Southwest Didsbury news

by Bessie Eckstrand

Best wishes of the area go to those who have been in hospital recently. I.e. Harvey Hosegood and Helen Wagner. Hope both of you are feeling much better soon.

Congratulations to newlyweds Stewart Klinck (son of Delbert Klinck) and Syna Jacobs of Germany, who were married January 23, 1993 at Canmore, Alberta and are presently living in Lola Klinck's former farmhouse (now owned by George Klinck). A shower was held in their honor on June 18 at Westcott Hall, with a large crowd of relatives and friends in attendance. Trudy Robertson and Glenda Klinck were co-hostesses for the evening.

The Wrights of Didsbury performed a most comical skit, was enjoyed by all. Stewart and Syna were assisted in opening their many lovely gifts by brother Keith and his wife Paula. All enjoyed the bounteous pot luck lunch. Stewart works for Kuelker's Mig. and Syna has been working for Bruce and Terry Ann Robertson for 2 years as a nanny.

Best wishes folks for many happy years together.

The June Birthday Club was held at the home of Joan Hunsperger, all enjoyed a visit and a lovely lunch.

The Waterloo Community breakfast was held at Len and Anne Neufelds' and hosted by the Neufelds. Dicks and Vermunts and Millers on June 19th. It was well attended; everyone enjoyed visiting with old friends and neighbors and partaking of the very good pancakes, sausage and scrambled eggs. Area thanks and commends the sponsors for this annual event.

Someone mentioned to me the other day that it's such a shame that all of the roadside grass is wasted and it brought back memories of 1948 and into the 50's of everyone's milk cows grazing on the roadway. Seems everyone had 10-12 milk cows and most people just had one quarter section of land and so not enough pasture, so they used the roadways. Of course the roads weren't gravelled and cars didn't travel at the high speed they do nowadays. There used to be Jack Edwards Sr. and Bill Rodgers (daughter Cicely Shantz), Rick Arthur farm and us to mention a few, who used the roadways and it was the practice to turn the cows back if they strayed too far.

If anyone has some news, please phone me at 335-4336, or if I've hurt anyone's feelings by what I've written, let me know. I apologize sincerely.

Westglen's forest grows

This is the second year in a row that Westglen has planted a number of sizeable trees to beautify the surrounding area. We are very pleased with the favorable reaction from the staff, students and parents in support of this worthwhile project and hope to continue to plant trees and shrubs on a yearly basis.

In addition, this project supports Westglen School's continuing efforts to increase environmental awareness in our students. Westglen would especially like to thank our "tree waterer",

We will have a forest right here at Westglen School!

Mr. Petkau, for the many hours he has spent moving the water hoses from tree to tree (like all summer!). We will have a forest right here at Westglen School!

The appearance of the Westglen School grounds is improving as a result of the hot lunch program for students at the school (The Wildcat Cafe). Parent and teacher volunteers help to prepare lunches on a daily basis and some profit is realized from this project.

CMHC starts forecasts

Home construction is expected to rise 2.3 percent this year to 172,100 units, according to a report released by Canada Mortgage and Housing Corporation. The agency's second quarter National Housing Outlook also forecasts a further rise of 10.6 percent to 190,400 units for 1994.

"After a slow start in 1993, home construction is expected to get a boost from the stronger economy expected later this year and into 1994. The market will also remain affordable and continue to benefit from the two federally sponsored homeownership programs, and strong population growth," explained Gilles Proulx, Chief economist at CMHC's Market Analysis Centre.

"As well, the forecast reflects the weakness suffered by new and resale markets at the beginning of year and the impact of reduced commitments for social housing units," Proulx added.

Average resale prices will remain fairly stable. The only province to exceed an increase of four percent this year will be British Columbia, where a strong market will push the average price up by more than ten percent. For 1994, expectations are for average price increases for provinces to range between zero and four percent.

Resumes under review for golf club

by Janice Harrington

The Didsbury Golf Club is currently reviewing resumes for the position of golf club manager left vacant after the departure of former manager Allan Scott.

The club executive has been advertising for the position since last month when Scott left to take a management position at a Nanton golf course.

Gold Club President David Fife said club executive have been taking over the management of the Didsbury course since Scott left.

"We are managing to get by, plus we have the kitchen supervisor who is taking care of the restaurant plus the pro shop," Fife said.

Fife said the lack of a course manager is not slowing down course improvements that were scheduled for this year. He said most of the work currently under way is being supervised by the greens superintendent Rick Phillips.

Fife said the club will be reviewing resumes over the next month and hope to have a new manager in place by the end of the golf season.

Didsbury tops in soccer league

Didsbury teams finished on top in local soccer league play this year. In the under 8 division, Didsbury finished first with Crossfield taking second place. In the under 10 division, Didsbury's team again finished in first place, with Crossfield in at number two, the Olds #2 team in third place and Olds #3 in 4th. In the under 13 division, Didsbury finished close to the top. In second place under Trochu. The Olds team rounded up the top three.

The Under 15 division is still playing a round robin program. Results will be made available soon.

In a South West Central Soccer League championship game, Didsbury placed less well than in regular season play, losing out to Linden in under 8, and to Trochu in under 13. Other game results were: Crossfield 2 - Trochu 0 in under 10, Crossfield 0 - Innisfail 3 in under 15, and Innisfail over Olds in a best of three game series in the under 17 division.

A big kicker

Recreation views

by Ken Luck,
Recreation Director

It will not be long now before we begin to see construction of the new Didsbury Curling Rink. Final drawings have been approved and the contract for construction has been awarded to Shunda Construction from Red Deer. A revised lease and operating agreement for the facility is expected to be presented to members of the Didsbury Recreation and Culture Board this week. Should all go according to plan, the document will be presented to Town Council for approval on Tuesday, July 6. Within the terms of the revised agreement, it is recommended that a management advisory committee consisting of representatives from the Didsbury Curling Club, Didsbury & District Agricultural Society and Town of Didsbury collectively oversee the annual operation of the facility. I believe the proposed management committee lends well to enhanced lines of communication and establishment of a solid marketing plan ensuring facility usage.

Although weather conditions lately have not resembled the summer season, it is here and the Didsbury Recreation staff are ready with a number of programs and special events for all members of the family. Activities kick-off on Thursday, July 1 with Canada Day celebrations followed by the start of Summer Fun on Monday, July 5. We have also just purchased an outdoor volleyball net and standards. This is available to rent through the pool office at a nominal fee. Set it up in your backyard, in the park or on a beach. Other programs include sport outreach clinics in basketball and tennis along with Circus Gatti which is scheduled for a little later on in August. For information on events and programs drop by the Recreation Office located in the Memorial Complex or give us a call at 335-8377.

I would like to take this opportunity to share with you some of the ideas associated with active living. Active living means including all sorts of simple activities in your daily routine. Like walking to the corner store instead of taking the car, climbing stairs instead of riding the elevator and doing chores around the house.

All these add up...important health benefits come from being a "modest mover." But many people soon find they want a little more. They find they want to set aside time for brisk walking, for example.

If you are at this stage consider the following tips before you walk your first block, swim your first lap, or cycle your first mile. They will help you get off to a good start.

Establish a routine - Pick a time of the day that suits your lifestyle and your schedule. Morning, afternoon or evening, it really doesn't matter. The best time of day is the time that's just right for you. Experiment and find a comfortable routine.

Avoid hassles - Some activities are more accessible than others. You can walk, run or cycle right from your front door. Swimming or an aerobics class may not be so convenient. Make sure your activity interests you enough that you can handle any inconveniences that may occur.

Don't rush - Set aside enough time so you don't have to rush. Appointments or other commitments pressing your session can make you a clock watcher and spoil much of what physical activity has to offer. Remember, your activity is supposed to be your recreation. You should finish relaxed and refreshed.

Avoid boredom - Routines are good, but when you get into a rut it's time for a change. Boredom is self-inflicted. Don't be a slave to any program. Make some changes in your routine and soon your activity will be fun again.

Keep records - Use a little book or calendar to keep track of what you do. Recording your activity sessions can remind you of days missed, and it offers tangible evidence of progress.

Use rewards - Rewards help some people persist, so use them if you like them. Reward yourself for goals achieved. It's your program - you decide on the prize!

Be patient - Don't rush or force improvement. Fitness - like anything of great consequence - is not easily or quickly won. Push too hard and the body rebels. Treat it sensibly and with respect and it will perform remarkably.

Finally, have fun! Choose activities that suit your disposition and bring you some enjoyment and satisfaction. Physical activity is beneficial but it should be meaningful, too. Few people stick with an activity program simply because it's good for them.

A nice thing about active living is that it rewards you twice: immediately, in the pleasure of the moment and over time, through improved health, well-being and quality of life.

PERSONALITIES

A dream takes flight

by Elaine Wilson

Jack Haynes is a prime example that one man can indeed make a difference.

Born and raised in the Olds area, Jack Haynes' father homesteaded west of Olds in 1896. Like his father, Haynes knows the area intimately and wants to do his part to ensure wildlife, particularly bluebirds, continue to thrive here.

Why bluebirds?

"There used to be lots of bluebirds around here," Haynes explained. "But in the 40's they sort of just disappeared. Bluebirds live in cavities like woodpecker holes. When we started spraying and clearing the land there was no place for them to nest. A man named Charlie Allis started making nest boxes to get them to come back."

Charles Allis, a familiar name to conservationists founded the Allis Bluebird Farm east of Joffre. When he retired, he sold his farm to Union Carbide Canada Ltd., contingent upon the understanding that the company would continue looking after his mountain bluebirds. 'Project Nestbox Alberta' grew out of this agreement which still involves Union Carbide along with Alberta Fish and Wildlife, Environment Canada, Ducks Unlimited, the North American Bluebird Association and Jack Haynes along with 32 other bluebird enthusiasts across rural Alberta.

Mountain bluebirds are more than mere decoration for the prairies, Haynes said, pointing out how they feed on pesky insects such as grasshoppers. They winter on the west coast and as far south as Arizona and return to Alberta toward the end of March.

Haynes' involvement in the bluebird nestbox program began in 1985 when he wrote to Allis asking for the dimensions of a bluebird box. The original box took him less than an hour to build, so Haynes began building more. A local 4H group got involved in the project constructing several nestboxes which were soon housing their intended tenants.

Bluebird nestboxes run through much of the province. For his part, Haynes monitors up to 120 bluebird nests scattered in a 14 mile radius around his home west of Olds.

"I check them once a week," Haynes said. "It takes me all day to do it- five miles of walking and the rest I do in the car. I haven't been out for a while because I recently had an operation. I check to see how many nests are occupied, how many eggs they've got and how many don't hatch. Some people put bands on them and you can see how far the birds have come. Last year I fledged 228 bluebirds."

An official from Environment Canada heard about Hayne's efforts to re-introduce the bluebird into the area and enlisted his help in officially monitoring the activity of the birds for the government.

The nestboxes resemble traditional homemade bird houses, although they are deeper than they are wide. If you keep a sharp eye out you'll see them dotting scores of fence posts west of Olds.

Several boxes are located along the perimeter of Haynes' property. He walked over to one and pulled back the lid. Reaching inside he carefully lifted out the mother who offered no resistance. Inside the nest were five tiny birds the size of thimbles which had hatched the previous day. Haynes opened his hand and the bird sailed a short distance away keeping a watchful eye on her progeny. Haynes replaced the lid and smiled.

"Bluebirds were just about extinct around here not that long ago," Haynes noted, concluding simply. "I got into this because I just thought I'd be doing some good."
